PEKING HEMMED IN BY THE FORCES OF GENERAL WU

Chang Tso Lin's Army Seated, Dispatch From Capital Says.

RAIL TRAFFIC SUSPENDED

Joy Anderson, an American, sent to negotiate with victorious forces regarding relations with Peking government; Revolt Seventh One.

By Associated Press.
PEKING, May 4.—The troops of Wu Pei Fu, the central Chinese commander, have surrounded Peking. General Chang Tso Lin's army in the vicinity of Peking has been seated.

All rail traffic out of Peking has been suspended.

PEKING, May 4.—Acting Premier Zhou Tzu Chi has sent Roy Anderson, an American, to negotiate with General Wu Pei Fu and commanders regarding their relations with the Peking government, it was announced this afternoon.

The fighting now going on around Peking is the seventh attempt in 10 years to settle Chinese political differences by an appeal to arms. In these 10 years (China has been drifting toward a break up.

The Manchus were thrown out in 1911-12. Dr. Sun Yat Sen was president of the first provisional republican government. Old Yuan Shi-Kai, ex-imperialist, succeeded Dr. Sun in 1912.

In 1913 a second revolution started in the south and was crushed by Yuan. In 1915 the south revolted and deposed Yuan's ambition to make himself emperor.

In 1917 Chang Hsun, in the north, tried to restore the Manchus. His northern helpers turned traitor. Then Yuan came back and crushed the southern withdrawal from Peking and leaving the north in possession.

In 1919 Dr. Sun's new southern state at Canton was overthrown by the military. He came back into power at Canton in 1920 and resumed his struggle with the north. Meanwhile, the northern government gained recognition from the Powers and is the official China.

Out of Manchuria came Chang Tso Lin, undoubtedly backed by Japan. He was a bandit lord, king of 100,000 rifles and an uncrowned monarch of Mongolia. He has been the "protector" of the Peking regime. They call him "Red Fox" in South China and describe him as the leader of dirty Manchurian bandits. He is one of the "super-luckies" of China, a "super-military governor."

He came down and on a summer day chased Anfu to cover. He has been the "Boss of Peking."

Another one of these "super-luckies," one Wu Pei Fu, has held forth in the valley of the Yangtze-Kiang. Wu is a "reformer" after his own formula. His forces have attacked those of Chang and the prize is the possession of Peking, nominally held by a shadowy republic whose president is Hsu Shih-Chang. Chang announces he will set up an "anti-decadent regime."

MOTOR DRIVERS COMPLAIN ROAD IS DANGEROUS

Numerous Holes Reported in Connellsville-Uniontown Highway Near Oliver.

The tar surface of the road on the Connellsville side of the plant is in a deplorable condition, motorists report, it being filled with holes, some of them deep.

The road began to break up during the winter months but within the past few weeks has grown considerably worse. Part of the highway at that place is on a grade which makes travel even worse and also adds to the difficulty of dodging the holes.

Machines cannot be driven over this section without dropping into one of these holes and there is great danger of breaking a spring or otherwise damaging a machine, motorists say. They point out that no complaints were made over the condition of portions of the broken section near Leola, where No. 2 where the road has been on a concrete base and that that immediate action should be taken to repair the Oliver stretch.

Repair work on other portions of the road were made with the making of spring and numerous holes in the concrete section have been filled.

Because of the condition of the present highway to the detriment of motorists because of the broken surface of it, including steep hills, the road is certain to be practically abandoned when the new road from Leola to Crossing in Uniontown is completed. That highway will be a straight line. The last is down from the end of the present concrete work to the city limits of Uniontown and it is merely a matter of having the contractor complete the surfacing in order to open the road.

Daily Fashion Hint

BLACK LACE
This frock started out quite simply as a low waisted, narrow skirted affair of black satin, then fell upon it the enchantment of lace and it became the romantic frock of the season. Large flat heads of cut jet add their glittering contrast to the lace's misty loveliness.

Efforts of All To Avoid Forest Fires Is Urged

HARRISBURG, May 4. Major R. Y. Stuart, commit-keeper of Forestry, has issued the following statement concerning the forest fire situation:

A considerable number of forest fires are now being reported to the Department of Forestry. The department's organization and cooperating agencies are actively at work doing all they can do to prevent fires and to extinguish promptly those that occur. Material in the forest is now so dry that any fire started may assume serious proportions in spite of the most efficient methods used in reaching and attacking it. Every citizen of the state is earnestly requested to avoid the use of fire in the woods so far as practicable. If fire is necessary the utmost care should be exercised in its use.

Forest fires in Pennsylvania are practically all of human origin, and consequently are preventable. The loss they occasion is a needless waste to the citizens of the state. I urge every Pennsylvanian will recognize the duty of good citizenship by cooperating in every way that he can to put an end to them.

Aerial Ballet With Robinson Circus Delights and Startles

Did you ever hang by your teeth? And, while you were in that startling position, did you ever try to do a skit dance or twist yourself into a knot? It's dollars to doughnuts that if you are not circus folks you never did. And, as a matter of fact, it isn't every circus performer who can accomplish the feat. It takes a peculiar kind of dexterity, a strength in the muscles of the jaw that is phenomenal and a daring that is quite oblivious to fear or "revue."

The John Robinson circus which is scheduled to exhibit in Conneltsville Friday, May 12, announces an aerial butterfly ballet as one of its many features. Superlatively this doesn't seem to mean much. It is only when the declaration is made that there are over 20 pretty and shapely girls in the display, and that their entire performance is given while swinging in their teeth in the dome of the vast canvas pavilion, that the remarkable character of the exhibition is realized.

Among the noted artists with the John Robinson are the Nelson family of sensational acrobats; the famous Nine Flying Wards; the Canton Chinese, Oriental wonderworkers; Williams Brothers acrobats; Miss Bodell and Miss Irene Montgomery, equestriennes, the riding Hodgkins and others too numerous to mention.

The afternoon program arranged is as follows: Opening remarks and song service, devotional period; music; "Practical Object Lessons," Mrs. E. E. Ormiston; miscellaneous period; address, "Sunday School Leadership," Rev. W. C. Work; music; business session, music and adjournment. The evening service will begin at 8:45 o'clock with a song service, followed by a devotional period. Rev. C. C. Rich and Rev. Seese will be the speakers.

Written reports will be expected of all delegates representing schools. Voting power will be granted to all delegates, district pastors, superintendents and all Sunday school teachers.

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and is Now Well

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous it kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."—Mrs. ADRIEN TOMSHECK, 10667 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomsheck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well-known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomsheck's experience should guide you towards health.

THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 4, 1934.

TOO MUCH INVESTIGATION.

In his appeal to members of Congress to cause a "thorough investigation" of the coal industry to be made, with a view to finding out what is wrong with it, Editor Searies of the official organ of the United Mine Workers expresses the sentiment of the public when he says that "it is time to do something to render unnecessary future strikes and lock-outs."

But he is expressing the sentiment of no one except the leaders of his organization and the peanut politicians when he further declares that "everybody realizes that first of all there must be a full and complete investigation and study of the coal industry."

Investigation is one of the evils the coal and other industries are suffering from today. For several years past conducting investigations of this kind has been the chief indoor sport in Washington. When some subject relating to coal or any other industry comes to the police of the over-zealous guardians of the public's interests—and they are—some one of the number is quick to catch the notion that he is functioning like a sure enough statesman if he proposes that an investigation be made.

This activity being about the easiest and quickest way of spending the people's money, and affording an opportunity for the investigators to have a place in the spotlight for a brief season, Congress has not yet been known to resist the temptation to order an investigation whenever some member suggests it. The result has been that much of the time Congress is in session a large number of the members are engaged in conducting investigations or investigating investigations made by a previous committee, or junking about the country on the same errand. To such an extent has this habit been followed, and the results of it having been so inconsequential, that the public has lost faith in the whole investigation scheme.

The coal industry has already been investigated times without number, both by the Federal Trade Commission and by committees of the House and Senate. The Labor Committee of the present House is now engaged in conducting such an inquiry, presumably for the purpose of knowing the results of it having been so inconsequential, that the public has lost faith in the whole investigation scheme.

Dunbar Township Glee Clubs Will Present Operetta Friday Evening At the High School at Leisenring

"The Belle of Beaujolais," an operetta by David Stevens and Louis Adolpho Coorna, will be presented by the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs of the Dunbar Township High School Friday evening, May 5, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium at Leisenring No. 1. The production will be under the direction of N. W. Grubill, Miss Mary Allen and William C. Simpson. The cast of characters is:

John Bender, a wealthy American widower, Roy Adams.
Larry and Tony, young Americans, Bender's guests, Edward Miller and William Brown.
Harkins, Bender's English valet, Richard Fieldson.
Pierre, a juggler, Charles MacBarney.
Chicot, a wrestler, Clarence Prather.
Countess Marie, a rich spinster; betrothed to the duke, Magdalena Miller.
Aunt Sarah Jessup, Bender's sister; widow, Helen McGee.
Phillips, Bender's daughter, Mary Heron.
Belle, her friend, Nellie Blair.
Yvonne, a flower girl, Margaret Lehman.
Susette, a candy girl, Nell Dunn.
Fantine, maid of the countess, Madeline McNulty.
The duke's attendant, Cal Lockette.
French boys, Fred Ketter, Richard Ketter and Elmore Brown.
American boys, Michael Kearns, Harry Seator, Ralph Stricker and Harvey Smith.
Florence, Mildred Haney, Margaret Haney, Edna Pike, Helen Ogilvie and Agnes Cassidy.
Candy girls, Ora Garhill, Grace MacKenney, Ruth Ketter, Bulah Roach and Rosaleen Matthews.
American girls, Margaret Duncan, Mary Coffman, Martha Coffman, Marie Seibert, Mae Newmyer, Mary Helms, Alice Derhammer, Emma Cramer, Madelyn Myers, Catherine Blinn, Viola Secosky and Ida Martin.
French girls, Violet Sandick, Ethel Houpt, Mary Belle Cochran, Grace Livingston, Mary Mathew, Gertrude MacKenney, Anna Eisenberger, Grace Hubbard and Frances Moore.

Having in turn played the clergy, the State Police, the deputies, the operators and the newspapers of the coke region Organizer Feeney will soon be without targets unless he turns his attention to the Sunday schools and prayer meetings.

Always playing politics it is but natural for some newspapers to see politics in everything.

Demand Will Come

Saward's Journal.

When the demand for coal is on a normal basis, there will not be enough either of mines or miners. We must remember that the coal trade has not had normal growth for 10 years. There was demand, enough during the war, but not the means to supply it.

The coal trade also had to encounter the great of the oil competition, which will be less important from now on. There has also been a keen degree of conservation, fostered by government authority, navigation and suggestion. The time has been such repression over a term of years as was never before known.

When the trade strikes a more normal pace, once more, there will not be much heard of too many mines or too many miners. Already certain old fields like the Cumberland district have been depleted and as time goes on more work, more careful work will be required to get out tonnage from the partially exploited mines.

WHEN I GET HOME.

When I get home at night they run
To meet me down the street;
The duties of the day are done
And joy is mine to meet.
Here is a welcome warm and true,
Where every task a man can do.
I stoop to catch them in my arms
And nuzzle face to face;
The finest of this world's charms
Is mine to meet.
Thus to be greeted, I declare,
Is worth a thousand years of care.
The tolling of the day is o'er,
No more I need to roam,
They about this through the open Door.
"Oh, Mother! Daddy's home!"
Who would not tell where engrossed
To earn so glad an hour as this?
When I get home at night, and see
The little ones glow
With love and laughter all for me,
The table set just so.
I tell myself just one glad smile
Makes all the care of day worth while.
Oh, we have grieved and we have
Wept,
And bitter were our tears,
Yet when the long faith we have kept
Through all the lonely years,
There will be glad souls in the glow
To welcome us when we get home.

Automatic Refrigerators Save Foods

Refrigerators are not bought these days as they used to be, when all we wanted to know was whether an "ice box" was "big enough" to hold all the things we wished to chuck into it.

Today we are modern. We want to know if a refrigerator is or is NOT an "ice-eater"; we want to know if our foods will keep COLD, sweet and wholesome; we want to know that we are protecting the HEALTH of the entire family; we want to know that we are getting not only the most scientifically-built but the BEST-built, and the MOST-ECONOMICAL refrigerator on the market. Also we want a "good-looking" refrigerator.

We have the refrigerator that meets all of these requirements—and we invite you to come in and see for yourself. You'll be especially interested, we believe, in the AUTOMATIC WATER COOLING SYSTEM—something that will be in every home SOME day and that is only to be had in the Automatic while the patents are in force.

The Automatic can be had on credit terms if you wish—either 30, 60, 90 days, or a year if you wish.

Automatic Food and Ice Saving Week—this week! Come to the demonstration.

Boxing Show on May 15 Is Planned by Athletic Club; Negotiations Are Opened

Young Jack Dempsey May Be One of the Principals in Main Bout.

The Connellsville Athletic Association is planning to stage one more boxing show before the spring season ends and the support given this exhibition will determine whether or not the sport will be continued in the fall. In order to insure the success of the show, two of the best known scrappers in the sport world are being discussed with for terms. If these men are matched the show will be away above anything else ever presented in the city.

The club went in the "hole" on its previous show but felt that it might have been due to lack of advertising. It is expected the next fracas will take place on Monday, May 15.

One of the principals being dealt with is Young Jack Dempsey, a corner in the "holic world." The boxer had been engaged to show here in the previous show when it seemed that King and Carter could not come to terms. Then when these two boxers were finally matched the negotiations with Dempsey were dropped with the understanding that he would be brought here later. It was expected that a semi-final ofclass would be closed today.

The Pittsburgh-Chicago clash was called off yesterday on account of rain.

The Connellsville Tennis Club members will dine at the Wright-Metzler cafeteria tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The annual banquet this year is expected to be the largest event of any season.

City League enthusiasts are anxious for the weather man to get all the rain out of his system by Saturday. The opening game of the season is scheduled for that afternoon with the Baltimore & Ohio team and the Fayette Bickers clashing.

Uniontown is supporting boxing with first-rate crowds. That city has yet to beat Connellsville in anything and it is not likely fans in this district will miss an opportunity of keeping a thing worth while in the sport world alive here.

The Leannex baseball club will practice tomorrow evening at Fayette.

Field. It will be the final practice of the team and at that time the outfit will be measured for uniforms.

The Knights of Pythias have dropped out of the City League for the present, because of the inability to get a full team together. The place is open to any outfit desiring to enter.

Captain and Trump Run Sluggers were scheduled to clash at 4:20 o'clock this afternoon on the Wheat Field.

Trump Run lost to the Baltimore & Ohio City League team last evening 8-2.

The Colonial Independents have been organized and are ready to open the season. George Bitner is manager and is ready to book games. His address is 510 Race street, Connellsville.

Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Druggists Guarantee First Pint Bottle of Allenbur to Show the Way to Complete Recovery.

My father, H. Allen of Rogers Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times he was unable to walk. He finally decided to try a bottle of Allenbur. He took it for a week and his rheumatism disappeared. He then took a second bottle and his rheumatism never returned. He is now a healthy man and is able to do all his work.

With this Allenbur in mind he consulted a physician. He made experiments and finally he found a prescription that quickly and completely relieved his pain and restored him to his normal life.

"Building Permits 98 Per-Cent Ahead of Year Ago," "Building Contracts Indicate Wonderful Year." These are some of the headlines which catch the eye these days. In short, building has become a live news topic, and anything relative to that subject is sure of a prominent headline in the papers. Ever since last September the increased activity in building has been quite noticeable and certainly encouraging, for it marks the turn in the situation. Lethargic for four years the building business is gradually coming out of its stupor. What will be the immediate effect of this condition?

More homes. Today there are about 1,500,000 homes needed to take care of the population, not allowing for the normal increase in population each year. More homes will give some of these 1,500,000 families a place to live in and will help reduce the rents of those who choose that way.

shaped and sized lounging rooms, 13 by 23 feet, with fireplace in one wall and flanking built-in bookcases. Along the right side of the living room are windows and doors insuring plenty of daylight. The room opens out into a small side porch, also a superior which is included.

And in a similar manner the dining room is provided with excellent lighting facilities from two sides.

Directly in back of the dining room which is 13 by 17 feet, is a kitchen 13 by 10 feet, not much space when old-fashioned kitchens are compared with our modern ones. This is a modern home because of compact arrangement and use of built-in features. There is a small pantry in connection.

A rear hall leading from the kitchen gives access to a bathroom and rear bedroom. 12 by 9 feet 8 inches. This rear bedroom has the additional convenience of a small sleeping porch.

On the second floor the plans call for three unusually large bright bedrooms, the front or master bedroom being 20 by 14 feet and the others 21 by 14 feet 6 inches and 11 by 11 feet. A sleeping porch, 11 by 11 feet is connected with the bedroom.

This seven-room arrangement is a very comfortable and pleasing one. It can be added that the room is so well planned that it can be utilized without the large bed room in two. But if there are not too many in the family, the present arrangement is quite satisfactory and economical.

This home is a little better than the average, and certainly one that any one should consider.

The three trotted their horses up to them, and, catching sight of the coffin upon the sleigh, the inspector dismounted. He looked hard at Wilton, and suddenly he recognized him.

"It's Wil! Carruthers!" he exclaimed, starting into his face in bewilderment.

Wilton got up with an effort. "Morning, Jack," he said wearily. "Yes, it's I. And here's Miss McDonald. You know her, I think."

The inspector turned his puzzled glance on the girl. Mechanically his hand went up to his cap in salute. Then he looked at the sleigh again.

"And this is—was Joe Bostock," said Wilton, and all at once, in the reaction from the nervous tension, he felt the tears streaming down his face, and could hardly keep his lips steady.

"My God!" muttered Quain. "An accident, Wil!"

"Shot!" shouted Wilton. "Some speaking dastard's bullet in the bush. Shot at my side! The bullet broke my arm after it had passed through Joe's heart, and his blood and mine were mixed together. It didn't need that for me to know that I'd found the murderer if it takes me to my dying day!"

"Joe—Joe dead?" whispered Inspector Quain, half unable to realize it. Joe had been a very living personality in Clayton. "And murdered!" he added, then:

"Where are your breads?"

"Gone!" But they didn't shoot Joe either by design or accident. That's a story you can learn from Anderson, at the half-way cache."

"That's where we were bound for," said Quain. "We're looking for—"

"And by the way," said Wilton with a mirthless laugh, as the relative unimportance of the fact struck him, "I'm under arrest for having murdered Joe."

Quain looked at him keenly, and then turned his glance upon Molly in inquiry. It was plain that he thought Wilton was raving.

"That's true," said Molly. "A sergeant and a constable from the Pay followed us up to Anderson's and placed Wilton under arrest yesterday morning."

The inspector rubbed his nose in perplexity. "It will be told me that I wouldn't have believed him Miss McDonald," he said. "Describe those policemen to me please."

"The constable was short and dark, stocky in build. The sergeant was fair, with long hair."

"Bit of a squint?"

"A cast in his left eye. His name is Peters. The other one is named Myers. You know them, then?"

"I do," said Quain softly. "Peters is Jim Hackett, and Myers is Tongway, a half-Frenchman, from the eastern townships. They were discharged last year after a short time of service, as soon as their records became known, and they got away, taking their uniforms and equipment with them."

"They're wanted for a cattle-stealing job and impersonating members of the force. So that ends that trouble, Wil!"

Quain nodded to his men to dismount. "Get the sleigh in to barracks as quickly as you can," he said, "and notify the coroner. I guess a half-day's extra leave won't do that precious pair much good. Miss McDonald—With old man, you can manage to ride in, can't you?"

Wilton, staggering to his feet, set his face in a ghastly grin. "I've held on," he muttered. "I guess I can hold on for two hours more. There's a bigger thing behind this than you—or I—know just now. I'm going on ahead. I'm all right, and you won't stop me, Jack?"

Austin Phayre, the president of the Bank of New North Minnabots, stood at the table. He was a man of about fifty, with a gray wave of hair and gold-rimmed glasses. His manner was pompous, and he was immaculate in his black cutaway, with the expanse of white cuff and tail collar.

"Mr. Chairman," he said, "none of us shareholders has requested that the meeting be called in order that we may obtain certain information from those best qualified to impart it, as to the prospects of the Minnabots line, concerning which disquieting rumors are afloat."

"You have before you a statement of our financial position. It is not the most satisfactory one that could be imagined. Of a total capital of five million dollars, nearly one-half has already been disbursed. The estimate before you provides for nearly two millions more to be distributed over graduation, including water-tanks, telegraph line bridging and ballistics. Meanwhile, unexpected difficulties have arisen. They tell us that the entire route will have to be reurveyed; that the swamps are impassable."

He glanced with affected investigation about the table.

"It seems hardly worth while to put these questions under present circumstances," he said. "But we should like to be informed why the surveys reported were not properly checked. We would like to know whether it is going to pay us to build a line out into this unsettled wilderness, and in how many years? Finally, we wish to elicit the opinion, whether our interests are in the best possible hands."

"What did your bank invest for, if you feel that way?" shouted an old, slightly dressed man across the table.

"That is exactly what I am trying to find out," retorted Austin Phayre blandly. "If Mr. Botta will permit me—"

"I'll tell you why he did it," jolled the old man, rising to his feet and shaking his fist vigorously. "You want to get control for Tom Bowyer, so we'll have another line to bankrupt. You know what we all know, that old Joe Bostock never went back on his friends yet. If he says the line's a-going to pay, it's a-going to pay. You know Joe and Wil Carruthers went up to look the line over. Give 'em a chance!"

Jim Botta, a familiar figure in many western towns since he made a lucky strike in the Cobalt region a few years before, had been one of Joe Bostock's staunchest friends. He had brought in a good many of the investors. Yet now he stood almost alone in championing of his friend.

Strike Less Disastrous So Far Than the Industrial Depression a Year Ago

More Coke Being Made at End of April, 1922, Than April, 1921.

PEAK HAS BEEN PASSED

Is the Impression in the Region, No Further Defections Having Occurred and Some Plants Having Gained in Men at Work and Ovens in Blast.

From The Weekly Courier

Notwithstanding the sympathy strike in the coke region had reduced the number of plants and ovens in operation on April 1 by 60 per cent and production by 64 per cent, during the first four weeks, ended April 29, the region was making more coke on that date than it was a year ago.

At the end of April, 1921, after seven weeks of the industrial depression had been operating to force weekly curtailments of plants and ovens, there remained but 4,573, or less than 13 per cent, of the ovens in blast. Production was reduced to 46,714 tons, or less than one-third of what it had been before the slump began.

During April of the present year the strike has had relatively less serious effect than industrial conditions of a year ago. At the close of the fourth week of the campaign to close up the region 4,861 ovens remained in blast, or 327 more than upon the corresponding date in 1921. Production was 54,230 tons, or 3,520 tons greater than a year ago.

So far as the effects produced on the coke making interests are to be considered the depression of a year ago hit the furnace operators hardest, they having been cut down to 2,143 active ovens, or 9.5 per cent, as compared with 2,293, or 18.2 per cent, of the merchant ovens in running. Production of the former was 26,950 tons, the latter 22,660 tons, during the week ending April 30, 1921. This year there is a reversal, the merchant operations having been cut to 1,186 or but 22.3 per cent, of their ovens; furnace operations to 3,697, or 55.7 per cent. Output of the former had dwindled to 15,320 tons, the latter to 38,900 tons. Compared with a year ago the furnace operators last week had 1,354 more ovens in blast and made 12,550 more tons of coke. The merchants had 1,207 fewer ovens running and were 7,330 tons behind in output. The net regional gain over a year ago was 5,520 tons.

These facts, and the additional and perhaps more significant fact that the decrease in production during the fourth week of the strike was the smallest since efforts were begun to up the region, indicate very definitely that a hat has come in the progress toward what the organizers boasted at the beginning was to be the complete cessation of coke making. The weekly losses due to the strike have been as follows:

Week Ending	Tons
April 1.....	15,320
April 15.....	15,510
April 29.....	22,660
April 30.....	19,750
Total.....	55,730

The successive steps in closing the plants are shown in the following:

plants are shown in the following:
	In Blast
Districts	Apr. 1	Apr. 15	Apr. 22	Apr. 29
Conn. ....	35	33	24	20
Lower Conn.	27	12	6	7
Total	62	45	30	27

The 32 plants thrown idle during the first three weeks represented 5,906 active ovens. The addition of five plants to the inactive list in the fourth week increased the non-producing ovens to 7,101. The number in blast at different dates as shown were as follows:

Interest	Apr. 1	Apr. 15	Apr. 22	Apr. 29
Merchant	4,050	1,862	1,356	1,111
Furnace	7,914	7,236	4,672	3,697
Totals	11,964	9,098	5,968	4,808

The effect on production in the two districts through reduction in the number of active ovens is here shown:

	Apr. 1	Apr. 15	Apr. 29	Apr. 30
District.....	87,960	87,810	58,080	43,130
Conn.....	32,010	11,000	6,900	8,100
Total.....	119,970	98,810	64,980	51,230

The loss in weekly rate of production since the strike began has been 95,730 tons, compared with the week ending April 1. The decrease has been divided between the two districts in the proportions of 39,820 in Connellsville, and 55,910 in Lower Connellsville. By interests the loss has been: Furnace, $8,800; merchant, $7,130 tons weekly. The production from week to week is shown in the following:

	Apr. 1	Apr. 15	Apr. 29	Apr. 30
District.....	79,590	79,700	47,900	38,900
Mer.....	32,460	19,110	17,080	15,320
Totals.....	112,050	98,810	64,980	54,230

The H. C. Frick Coke Company remains the single coke producer of the furnace interests in active operation. During the week ending April 29 it sustained the loss of three plants with 895 ovens, leaving 13 plants and 3,697 ovens, or 55.7 per cent, all in the Connellsville district, in blast. The merchants meantime suffered a loss of two plants, 210 ovens, cutting their production list to 1,186 ovens, or only 22.3 per cent. The effects from week to week are shown in the following:

	Apr. 1	Apr. 15	Apr. 29	Apr. 30
District.....	1,200	1,080	895	700
Conn.....	4,120	312	846	466
Totals.....	5,320	1,392	1,741	1,166

further defections at the coke producing plants and several of them having increased their working forces and others fired up more ovens. The gain, if any, will probably be small, but it will bear out the impression prevailing in the region that the peak of the strike has been passed.

Estimated production during the week ended Saturday, April 29, was 54,230 tons, divided between the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 48,130, a decrease of 9,950 tons; Lower Connellsville, 6,100, a decrease of 800 tons, or a total decrease of 10,750 tons, as compared with a decrease of 24,820 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was: Furnace, 28,900, a loss of 9,000 tons merchant, 15,330, a loss of 1,750 tons, as compared with losses of 31,800 and 2,030 tons, respectively, during the week ended Saturday, April 22.

During the week 1,105 additional ovens were made idle, 895 at furnace and 210 at merchant plants. Of the number 1,045 were in the Connellsville and 60 in the Lower Connellsville district.

Railroad shipments show a steady growth. During the week ended April 29 the Pennsylvania reported a gain of 504 cars of coal and coke, or 12 per cent. The Baltimore & Ohio movement gained 400 cars, or five per cent.
